A guide to grading submitted worksheets and viewing reports in the Online Workbook powered by Noteflight.

Hide All Answers

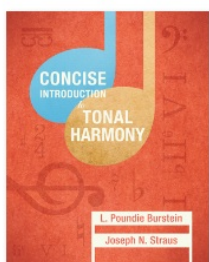

Are the worksheets graded automatically?

No, Noteflight is an online musical notation program that does not have the ability to automatically grade submitted worksheets and the workbook interface simply allows you to collect and record grades for your students' submissions. Instructors will need to manually grade each individual worksheet.

Is there an answer key available?

Yes! You can request a copy of the workbook answer key by using the Instructor Resources tile on the Digital Resources page for your textbook or by contacting your Norton representative.

Below the header is a toolbar with various icons for "Play", "Transcribe", "Record", "Save", "Instruments", "Page View", "Zoom", "Keyboard", and "Connect". The main content area displays a worksheet titled "1.2 II A" with a subtitle "(Subtitle)". The worksheet includes fields for "(Lyricist)" and "(Composer)". Below these fields, the text reads "Staff notation" and "Write the letter name of each pitch in the blank below." Underneath, it says "Treble and bass clefs" and shows a musical staff with 12 measures. Below the staff, there are 12 blank lines for writing the letter names, with the first line starting with "A". At the bottom of the interface, there is a footer with the text "Assignment 1.2, II. A. Staff Notation: Treble and bass clefs (not assigned)" and a "Done" button.
